Governor Interested Spectator. Consideration of the Gibson insurance bill was resumed in the house today, and the morning session being devoted to a speech by Representative Bryant of Haskell, in opposition to the measure. Governor Ferguson was an interested spectator in the debate. Mr. Bryant said he had come to the conclusion that there was but one way for him to vote and that is to vote against the enacting clause to this bill. "There is no way to prevent these outlawed companies coming here and investing all they care to invest," said the speaker. "The measure was repealed and still they refused to come to Texas to do business."

Further, he said he could not un-

ATLANTA MAN WILL DELIVER INTRODUCTORY SERMON—LITTLE HEARD IN AFTERNOON SERMON AT HOUSTON CONCERNING CONSOLIDATION.

Consensus of Opinion Among Speakers Is That Now Is No Time for Retrenchment in Any Part of the Southern Baptist Work—Must Follow up the Work With Campaign.

Houston, Tex., May 13.—Asheville, N. C., late today was elected for the next convention place of the Southern Baptist convention, now in session here. The convention will open in Asheville May 19, next. Selection was made by a committee appointed for that purpose. While the convention will not act upon the recommendation until later in the week, custom has made the committee's selection virtually final. The Rev. Dr. Charles W. Daniels of Atlanta was chosen by the same committee to preach the introductory sermon at next year's meeting with the Rev. Dr. S. J. Porter of San Antonio, as alternate. Delegates from Lexington, Ky., withdrew their claim to the next convention at the last moment and the committee announced Asheville's selection was unanimous. With the selection of the time and place of their next meeting virtually settled and the question of proposed consolidation of important boards closed for the time being at least, delegates to the convention settled down this afternoon and tonight to listen to various addresses and to listen to the report of the home mission board, already made public, was favorably reported to a committee appointed this afternoon by the convention. The report praised the work of the home mission board during the past year. The convention unanimously adopted this report, thus endorsing the past year's work of the home mission board.

Little Talk of Consolidation. Little was heard after the morning session ended of the discussion over the consolidation of various boards. The discussion had at times been almost stormy and caused leaders to say most of them did not agree with the statement of J. P. Brownlow of Columbia, Tenn., that the three important boards—Home Mission, Foreign Mission and Sunday School—cost too much in salaries paid its secretaries. Mr. Brownlow, a lay delegate, was the only speaker who expressed himself as not pleased with the manner in which these boards are conducted. Others at the morning session spoke in a speech in which the convention approved its work. "Wherever we find thousands on these boards, we find millions in return," said Dr. J. B. Cranfill of Dallas, who came here to represent the Baptist board for missions at home and abroad and to spend more in our Sunday school work. This expression was given in some form by nearly every speaker at the board session.

The Rev. D. H. Cooper of Detroit, visiting in Houston, addressed the convention late today, declaring Southern Baptists must increase their home mission work now to be prepared for the flood of foreign immigration after the close of the European war. Most of this immigration, he said, would come to the south. Same Problem as in North. "Baptists in the north," he said, "are finding that foreign immigration has greatly enlarged the problem of home mission work for millions come from abroad and settle in the northern states, who know nothing of our faith and little of our government. We must teach them to know both," he concluded. A large number of speakers followed each other in rapid succession in the afternoon session, each urging that the home mission work go forward, many stressing the need for Baptist missionaries to work among the 400,000 Mexicans in Southern Texas. Dr. George R. McDaniel of Richmond, Va., who made the principal address on home mission, stressed the need for an increase in the fund for aiding Baptist communities to build for aiding Baptist communities to build churches. He outlined the work heur-

Grave Fears for Transylvania as She Nears Coast of Ireland

THE TRANSYLVANIA

Twelve cabin passengers on the Anchor line steamship Transylvania, bound for Liverpool and Glasgow over the same route as that of the Lusitania, canceled their passage a few minutes before the big liner steamed from the Cunard Steamship company's pier at the foot of West Fourteenth street. The sailing of the Transylvania was marked by much excitement and indecision among the passengers as a result of the sinking of the fast Cunarder off the coast of Ireland. Although only a handful of passengers quit the vessel through fear that Transylvania might meet the same fate as the Lusitania, fully a hundred passengers spent anxious moments in trying to decide whether they should risk the voyage.

Dr. Urrutia Is at San Antonio and Not in British Honduras

San Antonio, Tex., May 13.—Dr. Aureliano Urrutia, who was a member in the Huerta cabinet and who was mentioned in dispatches as being at Belize, British Honduras, actively engaged in organizing a revolution against Carranza, is in San Antonio, where he has been for several months. He denies most emphatically that he is in any way connected with Mexican politics and declares that he has not been active in any movement concerning military affairs in his native country.

"I am attending strictly to my business as a physician and will have nothing to do with bandits and professional politicians. I am planning to go to New York and accept a position as editor of a Spanish medical journal. I would like to see Mexico pacified, but I am out of politics for all time."

Livestock Commission to Meet Monday on Quarantine Matter

Austin, Tex., May 13.—After a conference today with Governor Ferguson relative to a further modification of the food and mouth disease quarantine Sunday School—cost too much in salaries paid its secretaries. Mr. Brownlow, a lay delegate, was the only speaker who expressed himself as not pleased with the manner in which these boards are conducted. Others at the morning session spoke in a speech in which the convention approved its work. "Wherever we find thousands on these boards, we find millions in return," said Dr. J. B. Cranfill of Dallas, who came here to represent the Baptist board for missions at home and abroad and to spend more in our Sunday school work. The injunction will be argued May 25. Taxicab operators joined with the "jitney" operators in attacking the ordinance. They declare the ordinance will put all public service automobiles out of business. The ordinance is declared in violation of the constitution of the United States in the petition asking for the injunction.

State Banks May Enter Federal System

Washington, May 13.—After consideration lasting eight months the federal reserve board has virtually decided that it will allow state banks to enter the federal reserve system with the right to withdraw and surrender membership if they so desire. This is regarded in Washington as the most important decision reached by the board in many months, and is believed to assure the entrance of hundreds of strong state institutions into the system. Early in consideration of the problem it was made clear by state bankers that their principal objection to entering was that surrender of their charters or liquidation to get out of the system would be required by the state bankers expressed the view that they were not compelled by the reserve act to enter the system as were national banks and that therefore the door should be left open for their departure.

Silva, the Temple cotton buyer, who was a passenger on the Lusitania. Mayor J. B. Watters today wired Governor Ferguson, asking that he take the matter up with Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan and endeavor to ascertain something definite. Silva was a member of the Elks and an Elk head was tattooed on one arm and a Greek cross on the other.

Support of People Needed by Wilson, Says Sec. Redfield

Boston, May 13.—William C. Redfield, secretary of commerce, who addressed the City club tonight, referred briefly to foreign relations. "It is not for me to intrude in matters of foreign affairs," he said, "but if President Wilson could speak to me now he would say that the support of a people too mighty to be other than calm, too strong to be other than self-controlled, too wise to be other than firm and wholly unafraid was in greatest support that he could have in guiding the state on paths of honesty, honor and peace."

Board Equalizing County Valuations

Austin, Tex., May 13.—The state board of education has adopted a resolution that it is unnecessary for common and independent school districts to employ lawyers, bond brokers or other agents to represent them before the board in presenting bonds for sale; that fair treatment is guaranteed by the board. FULL TEXT UNITED STATES NOTE TO GERMANY GIVEN OUT

Cabled by Washington Government to Ambassador Girard for Presentation to German Government—Calls Attention to Grave Situation Resulting From Sinking Lusitania.

OMIT NOTHING TO MAINTAIN RIGHTS

Note Closes With Firm Statement—Cites Various Instances in Which German Government Has "Violated American Rights"—Is Couched in Friendly Terms, but Is Plain as Attitude of United States.

Washington, May 13.—The United States government today cabled Ambassador Gerard for presentation to the German government a note calling attention "to the grave situation which has resulted" from violation of American rights on the high seas, culminating in the sinking of the Lusitania with a loss of more than one hundred American lives.

The communication expresses confident expectation of the United States "that the imperial German government will disavow the acts of which the government of the United States complains, that they will make reparation so far as reparation is possible for injuries which are without measure and that they will take immediate steps to prevent the recurrence of anything so obviously subversive of the principles of warfare for which the imperial German government in the past so wisely and so firmly contended."

In its conclusion the note states that "the imperial German government will not expect the government of the United States to omit any word or act necessary to the performance of its sacred duty of maintaining the rights of the United States and its citizens and of safeguarding their free exercise and enjoyment."

Full Text of Note.

The full text of the note was made public tonight by the state department, as follows:

"Department of State, Washington, May 13, 1915. "The Secretary of State to the American Ambassador at Berlin:—Please call on the minister of foreign affairs and after reading to him this communication, leave with him a copy.

"In view of recent acts of the German authorities in violation of American rights on the high seas, which culminated in the torpedoing and sinking of the British steamship Lusitania on May 7, 1915, by which over 100 American citizens lost their lives, it is clearly wise and desirable that the government of the United States and the imperial German government should come to a clear and full understanding as to the grave situation which has resulted.

"The sinking of the British passenger steamer Falaba by a German submarine on March 28, through which Leon C. Thresher, an American citizen, was drowned; the attack on April 28 on the American vessel Cushing by a German aeroplane; the torpedoing on May 1 of the American vessel Gulfight by a German submarine, as a result of which two or more American citizens met their death, and finally, torpedoing and sinking of the steamship Lusitania constitute a series of events, which the government of the United States has observed with growing concern, distress and amazement.

Doesn't Believe Germans Sanctioned.

"Recalling the humane and enlightened attitude hitherto assumed by the imperial German government in matters of international right and particularly with regard to the freedom of the seas; having learned to recognize the German views and the German influence in the field of international obligation as always engaged upon the side of justice and humanity; and having understood the instructions of the imperial German government to its naval commanders to be upon the same plane of humane action prescribed by the naval codes of other nations, the government of the United States was loath to believe—it cannot now bring itself to believe—that these acts so absolutely contrary to the rules, the practices and the spirit of modern warfare, could have the countenance or sanction of that great government. It feels it to be its duty, therefore, to address the imperial German government concerning them with the utmost frankness and in the earnest hope that it is not mistaken in expecting action on the part of the imperial German government which will correct the unfortunate impressions which have been created and vindicate once more the position of that government with regard to the sacred freedom of the seas

Hero of 5 Doesn't Whimper When His Arm Is Torn off

McGregor, Tex., May 13.—McGregor discovered a real hero today in the person of the little 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Harris, who, after falling into the conveyer at the McGregor Mill and Grain company and losing his right arm, crawled out, the machinery that had maimed him, without uttering a word, to his father, who was working at the mill, and who, after a half mile to his home and his mother before he ever uttered a word about the accident. The town expression to a bit of his wonderful display was more moved by his wonderful display of nerve than by the horror of the accident. While playing around the conveyer with a stick the child, to all accounts, decided to place the stick in the pull of the machinery on the stick was such as to drag the child into it. The machinery that had maimed him, else was such as to throw the child's hand and arm just above the wrist. But no fainting, no fright, no giving way

SUMMARY OF WAR

Gains for the allies in Belgium and France, including the capture of the town of Carceny and parts of Abain St. Nazaire and Neuville St. Vaast and the driving of the last band of Germans from the forest of Le Pretre in which violent fighting had been in progress for weeks are chronicled by Paris.

In obtaining these victories the Paris war office asserts that the Germans lost heavily from rifle fire and artillery. At one point of the front the foremost trenches of Germans, which had been annihilated by artillery were found on the field.

Berlin admits these losses in part, declaring that Carceny and the western part of Abain St. Nazaire and the foremost trenches between Neuville and Carceny have been taken and that "on this occasion a number of our brave men and much material again were lost." Admission also is made that the French penetrated the foremost trenches of the Germans at Orcy Des Carmes—over a width of 450 to 650 feet—but Berlin says that after bitter hand to hand fighting the German positions here were again cleared of all Frechmen.

Pursuit of the Russians in the Galician and Carpathian campaign continues, according to Berlin, the capture of large numbers of men and quantities of war materials. The German war office says the Teutonic allies have taken in this region 143,500 Russians and captured sixty-nine cannons and 258 machine guns.

Petrograd says the fighting in Western Galicia is decreasing in intensity and that the Russian offensive further south along the Dniester river is meeting with continued success with heavy loss to the Teutons.

Of the fighting in the Baltic provinces of Russia, Berlin declares the situation remains the same, but the Russian war office says that further south along the Dniester river a German position was taken.

As a result of heavy fines and sentences of imprisonment imposed upon offenders and the added fact that Great Britain will either repatriate or intern subjects of enemy countries the anti-German riots in England have almost subsided.

Peace Delegates in Patriotic Burst Sing National Song

Cleveland, Ohio, May 13.—Delegates to the World Court Congress burst into wild applause this afternoon when Dr. John Wesley Hill of New York, in an impromptu speech pointed dramatically to a huge American flag above his head and shouted: "Any English-American, German-American, French-American or other hyphenated American who does not support that flag in the present situation is unworthy of the citizenship he owns."

An orchestra in an alcove began the strains of the "Star Spangled Banner" and the audience rose and joined in singing the song. Many wept aloud. Dr. Hill's declaration was not made at a regular session of the congress, but at a dinner given by the business men of Cleveland to the delegates of the congress. The congress has forbidden comment on the war situation in its meetings.

John Hays Hammond, chairman of the congress, today announced a commission of delegates to draw up a definition plan for a world court of justice. Its members are:

James Brown Scott, Washington jurist; Theodore Marburg, Baltimore, former minister of Belgium; Henry Lane Wilson, ex-ambassador to Mexico; Bainbridge Colby, New York attorney; Judge D. D. Woodmansee, Cincinnati; Prof. Jeremiah W. Jenks, New York. Mr. Hammond by the ruling of the congress, is also a member of the commission.

EVIDENCE ALL IN ON FREIGHT RATES

PRESENTATION OF TESTIMONY ENDS AT CHICAGO—ROADS ARE INTERESTED.

TO HEAR ARGUMENTS IN JUNE

Chief Counsel for Roads Says Showing Justifies the Advance Asked.

Chicago, May 13.—Presentation of evidence in the western freight rate advance hearing before William Daniels, interstate commerce commissioner, closed today with the offering of rebuttal testimony in behalf of the forty-one western and southwestern railroad systems which are seeking changes in their transportation charges on certain commodities.

The last ruling given by the commissioner directed the railroad to file division sheets of the Northern Pacific, the Great Northern and the Union Pacific railroads to show to what extent those roads would participate in the proposed advance.

The railroads in the presentation of the case have contended that the three roads are interested so slightly in the proposed increases in freight rates that their participation was negligible, while the shippers have contended that the three should be included in the list of carriers who would profit largely by the proposed advance should they be allowed.

At the conclusion of the hearing, which was begun March 4, Commissioner Daniels announced that arguments would be heard before the interstate commission in Washington June 22.

Commenting on the hearing after adjournment, C. C. Wright, chief counsel for the railroads, said:

"The railroads rest on the broad facts introduced in the hearing and not on the particular testimony of any witnesses. We feel that the showing justifies the advance asked."

ENGLAND CONSIDERS CONSCRIPTION LIKELY

LORD HIGH CHANCELLOR INTIMATES NECESSITY MAY FORCE CHANGE.

MORE MEN ARE NOW REQUIRED

Heavy Fighting in Flanders—Have So Far Withstood German Attacks.

London, May 13.—Viscount Haldane, lord high chancellor, in the house of lords today intimated that the government was considering the necessity of departing from the voluntary system of military enlistment and resorting to universal service throughout the kingdom.

For the present, he said, the hands of the war office are full with the men they possess, but it might be necessary to reconsider the situation in the light of the tremendous necessities with which the nation is confronted.

This appears to confirm the idea prevalent here that while recruiting has been satisfactory, the very heavy fighting which has been taking place in Flanders where the Germans have for almost a week been attacking with the greatest violence the British line shows that many more men will be required if victory is to be attained. Thus far the British troops, according to Field Marshal Sir John French, have withstood all the German onslaughts and while at times they have been compelled to give some ground, their counter attacks have brought them back to the position from which they started. However, this has been costly business for the German artillery bombardment has been very severe and counter attacks are always followed by heavy casualty lists.

In their attempt to reach Calais the Germans continued their attacks for six weeks, but the allied force was much weaker then and the Germans were not in the position of having to meet counter offensive as they have to the north of Arras, in the Ypres and at other points along the western front.

Of these the most important is that which the French are carrying out from Arras to the point where their line joins the British and in which they continue to meet with unvarying success.

Germans' Fortifications Captured.

They report again today the capture of which the Germans admit—of very strongly fortified positions and one road at least which the Germans have been using to bring up reinforcements to their positions near La Bassée. Therefore, it is believed here that the French successes will lighten the pressure which the Germans are bringing to bear on the British around Ypres.

The Austro-German offensive continues in Western Galicia where they have driven the Russians forty miles back from their old positions and to within 25 miles of Przemyśl. The fighting has become less intense and the German allies have been able to estimate their captures, which, they state, amount to some 143,500 men, sixty-five cannons and 253 machine guns. The small number of guns in comparison with the prisoners would seem to indicate that the Russians have made an orderly retreat.

The Russians claim that they are now in a position to prevent a further advance by the Germans and Austrians, but as it is, they have lost much ground which they had won by hard, slow fighting.

In Eastern Galicia the Russians as a result of their new offensive the Austrians have commenced a disorderly retreat. Fighting continues in Courland and in the neighborhood of the Dniester, the Goliath, the third that the British have lost since the attack on the Dardanelles began, has been torpedoed by more than 180 of the crew of the submarine. Twenty-two officers were saved. While the Goliath was an old vessel, she was very useful for the work which she had been assigned, and the loss in men is serious.

British people in other news from the Dardanelles, that a British submarine, in a daring dash through the Straits, into the Sea of Marmora, torpedoed two Turkish gunboats and a large transport. This probably is the submarine which the Turks apparently succeeded in getting back through the mine-strewn passage.

Russian Official Statement.

Petrograd, via London, May 13.—The following official statement from general headquarters was issued tonight:

"On Tuesday night the enemy began an offensive with large forces in the region of Shavil, in an attempt to regain this road center. During the night we successfully repulsed five attacks and the following morning by an energetic stroke we defeated a German outflanking column, capturing several hundred prisoners and five guns."

"On the Dniester river, on the same day, we captured a hostile position near Yyrakia (or Jalrakia), thirty miles northwest of Kovno. On the left bank of the Niemen there has been no change."

"On the right bank of the Orzyo our trench mortars have with great success, in Western Galicia the intensity of the fighting decreased on a considerable part of the front during Tuesday and Wednesday."

"Our offensive on the right bank of the Dniester is meeting with success. The enemy on Tuesday made a fruitless counter attack to relieve his position, which was retreating in disorder center, which was retreating in disorder center, which was retreating in disorder center."

"Near Horodenska the enemy gave way about 7 o'clock in the evening of the same day and began a disorderly retreat. We captured several thousand and additional prisoners, a number of guns and about fifty ammunition caissons."

Fighting East of Ypres.

London, May 13.—The following communication was issued this evening:

"The fighting east of Ypres continues. The Germans today have again subjected our line north of the Menin road to a violent artillery bombardment which in places destroyed some temporary readjustments in the line. The line, however, has since been completely re-established."

"On the remainder of the front there is nothing to report."

IT ain't no figure of speech when a fellow says he gets "stung" with a poor tobacco. Try some VELVET—with every trace of sting mellowed out of it.

ANYTHING that is seasoned quickly by an artificial process is not truly seasoned—whether it is a piece of wood or a tobacco leaf.

VELVET is the mellowest of smoking tobaccos, because it is mellowed in the only way anything can be mellowed—Nature's way—by time.

Only the best of Kentucky's Burley crop—that is, the best of the world's best ripe tobacco—is selected for VELVET.

Two years this tobacco matures in great wooden casks, so that the peculiar fragrance and rich mellowness of the Burley shall be brought out to the full in VELVET.

Once taste a pipel of VELVET, The Smoothest Smoking Tobacco, note its cool, slow-burning qualities, and you will understand why VELVET smokers are increasing by thousands.

General Manager Throws Light Upon Varied Stories Now Widely Printed.

One can scarcely pick up a newspaper without seeing a story about Vitalitas, the new earth product that is attracting world notice. Some of the stories are in the form of interviews or statements from people who are enthusiastic about Vitalitas.

Col. John S. Akin, general manager of the Vital Remedies company, of Houston, Texas, in an interview said: "You ask how and where we get so many statements about Vitalitas; see here," and he turned to a large file case showing hundreds of statements and letters arranged and indexed.

"These are written statements from people throughout the world about Vitalitas. If you will run through some of these statements you will find them in the most wonderful collection of expressions of praise and gratitude you have ever heard of being given to any one thing."

John Davis Will Make Race for the United States Senate

Dallas, Tex., May 13.—John Davis, local attorney, has issued the following address:

"To the Democracy of Texas: I respectfully submit myself to the democracy of Texas as a candidate for United States senator, to succeed the Honorable Charles A. Culberson, subject to the primaries to be held by the democratic party in Texas, in July, 1916. About Jan. 1, 1916, I expect to begin and make such campaign as my time and finances will permit, subject to the limitations of the laws of Texas."

"I should other issues be presented during the campaign, I will advise the people where I stand on them. At this time the following declarations close my attitude on the matters now before the people, and constitute my platform:

"When elected United States senator from Texas, I will seek—

"1. To have enacted laws providing for a rural credit system, created, supervised and aided by the national government, covering real estate, chattel and personal loans.

"2. To have enacted laws providing for the creation, maintenance and operation of a market system, enabling an amendment to the national constitution, prohibiting the sale, manufacture and importation for sale of intoxicating liquors.

"3. To have submitted and adopted the producer to grow and dispose of his stock and produce at such times and in such manner as will give him a reasonable profit on his labor and investment.

"4. To have enacted laws radically changing and revising the national pension system, materially limiting the number of pensioners.

"5. To enforce strict economy in the administration of national affairs, so that appropriations made from the national treasury shall be made for items and undertakings of real merit, but not otherwise.

"6. To have enacted laws providing for the creation, maintenance and operation of a merchant marine by the national government.

"7. To have the United States relinquish all claims to, and order that the Philippine Islands, in order that

DOSE OF NASTY CALOMEL MAKES YOU SICK AND YOU LOSE A DAY'S WORK.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for the nasty calomel.

And if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tonic you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.

"It is my intention to appear before, and discuss with, the people of Texas these several issues, as occasion may demand. However, because of the vast area of this state, I am aware of the fact that any man who seeks office from the people in Texas must rely on the kindness and generosity of the newspapers to give him a square deal in announcing and discussing the principles for which he stands. My observation of, and experience with, our state press assure me that our Texas papers will give this.

Notice to Subscribers:
Delivery routes in the city of Waco are in the hands of independent carriers, who buy their papers at wholesale prices. Subscription accounts are under heavy bond, not only to give the best service, but to pay for their papers each month. Their remuneration is the difference between the wholesale price and the retail price which they receive from subscribers. This margin of profit is such that they cannot afford to extend credit, except month by month. They are not required, and they are advised against delivering papers to anyone who does not pay in accordance with the above subscription terms. These carriers are all earnest, hard working men and they will appreciate any courtesy shown them.
The Morning News should be delivered throughout the City of Waco by 6:30 a. m., and subscribers failing to receive the paper at that time will confer a favor by phoning the Circulation Department, both phones 1122, and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of The Morning News will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the management.

FOR A FULL COUNT.

Parents and guardians of children in Waco and McLennan county can render a great service to the city and county schools and the children, too, by co-operating with the census enumerators in obtaining the fullest possible census of all children within the scholastic age in time to permit them to attend school next year. For every child enrolled in the school census the state appropriates the sum of eight dollars, approximately, to be expended in improving the school service and of course every additional pupil helps.

The enumerators are already at work and they are required by law to complete their tasks this month. They cannot put in their whole time at the census, due to the fact that the remuneration offered is not sufficient to justify them in neglecting their regular work for this task. It may be that the parents will not be at home when the enumerator calls, but they should see to it that the enumerator gets the correct information as to the number of children in their home falling within the scholastic age. It does not matter if the children are attending a private school, or even if they have to work and can attend no school at all. The state allows the apportionment for every child coming within the scholastic age and it is the duty of the citizens of the city and of the other school districts to see to it that the proper school census is had.

And this applies to negroes as well as whites. We need a full census of all the children who are entitled to attend the public schools, for the fuller the census the larger the appropriations from the state school fund, and the larger the funds appropriated the better the schools can be made, for white and colored alike. And surely the cause of better schools is one in which all will readily co-operate. In helping the census enumerator you are helping your children and your community.

And the fact that a community is alive to its school interests is in itself a good advertisement.

"Come and let's save the kiddies." This injunction, given to his valet as the Lusitania was sinking, is said to constitute the last message spoken by Alfred G. Vanderbilt, the American millionaire, last week. These words, according to the Bishop of London, will run around the world in a way the millionaire's millions never could do. But may it not be hoped that the surviving members of the Vanderbilt family, catching the sentiment expressed by the man as he faced death, will appropriate some of the millions he left behind to the work of saving the kiddies, not from shipwreck at sea, but from diseases, social and moral and physical, equally as dangerous as the German submarines?

Boise, Idaho, is exemplifying the get-together spirit in promoting evening meetings in the schools. The school board furnishes light (putting in extra fixtures in several buildings), piano and janitor service free for any evening's entertainment. At four school houses in different sections of the city one entertainment a week is given, these being furnished once a fortnight by a joint committee from the three large women's clubs of Boise and in the alternating weeks by the mothers' circles. Representatives from the mothers' circles are present at each meeting to care for the smaller children.

Two out of every thousand public high school boys receive military instruction in school, as compared with five in every thousand and fifteen years ago. While the total number of boys in public high schools has increased since 1900 from 216,207 to 541,486, the number of boys taking military drill has decreased from 10,455 to 9532.

We move that all of those Americans who have so much energy that they can't refrain from rocking the boat be given a hoe or some other useful tool and sent to the farm. Teddy Roosevelt, for instance, ought to make a good harvest hand.

FOR A MUNICIPAL BAND.

The Morning News ventures the hope that the members of the city commission will decide today to lend their co-operation to the movement to establish a municipal band for Waco, inasmuch as a proposition has been formulated and presented to a committee from that body for the establishment of such a band in consideration of the same appropriation which the city has been accustomed to make for the past several years for free concerts during the summer months.

This proposition concurred in by the Young Men's Business League, the Chamber of Commerce, the Cotton Palace, the Trades Council and the fire department, through regularly accredited representatives of these various organizations, establishes a sum to be expended for music in Waco that will make it possible for musicians of talent to have something definite to look forward to throughout the year and which would make possible their continued residence in the city and a larger devotion to their music than has been possible in the past.

It is proposed by this committee, in conjunction with the two members of the band commission, that in consideration of the $1800 annually appropriated by the city for free concerts during the summer months, and the sum of $2200 to be appropriated by the Cotton Palace association for work to be performed by the band during that exposition, that the sum of $1500 additional be raised through means to be devised by this committee, making a fund of nearly $6000 to be expended upon the band throughout the year. A guaranteed fund of such size would make possible a larger and better band for the entire year than can now be commanded just for the summer months. It is proposed, too, that the $1500 to be raised by the committee through means yet to be formulated, will take care of the band on the annual trade excursions from this city, and will make possible a number of additional free concerts for the city during the year from the number that has been given in the past. It is estimated that the number of additional free public concerts to be given will be about ten.

It is the aim of the committee that has worked up the plan to have the city commission designate one of its members to co-operate in carrying out the scheme for a municipal band and represent the city in the expenditure of the funds. In view of the fact that the city will thus be able to secure for the people of Waco a number of additional free concerts and that it will give to the musicians of this city a stable backing by co-ordinating all the forces that have occasion to employ bands at any season during the year—thus encouraging the development of the best talent by assuring it a reasonable patronage—we hope the commissioners will adopt the suggestion today, when we understand it will come up for consideration, and thus secure for the city the co-operation of the various organizations that have given their approval to the proposition.

The Morning News has no particular band or band master in mind for the awards which the committee will make in case the plan materializes. The personnel of the committee and the organizations represented thereon is a guarantee that the best qualified musicians will be chosen, and that is the only consideration in which the people who pay taxes and the organizations and other people who will contribute to a fund for a permanent municipal band are interested in.

HOMES FOR RURAL TEACHERS.

A permanent home, provided by the school community for rural school teachers, is giving great satisfaction where it is in vogue, according to Harold W. Foght in a bulletin just issued by the United States bureau of education.

While out of 3000 teachers replying to Mr. Foght's inquiries only 73 live in homes provided by the community, the bulletin shows that teachers who have such homes find it possible to become permanent community leaders. "In the few communities reporting permanent homes," declares the bulletin, "the teachers are usually able to project the school into the home and draw the home close to the school. Where teachers' cottages are provided, these, aside from making the teachers' own lives more attractive, naturally become rallying centers for all community activities."

The investigations of Mr. Foght reveal that in rural United States the average time for each public school teacher to remain in any one school is less than two school years of 140 days each. "This average," says the bulletin, "is very much less for a majority of the teachers, the few permanent, professional teachers alone bringing it up close to the two-year level."

As the average age when teaching is begun is 19 years, and the average number of years taught is only 6-12, the bulletin's statistics show that the rural public schools of the country are taught largely by young unmarried people who have no idea of following teaching as a profession.

The conclusions of Mr. Foght are: "So long as teachers continue to be peripatetics, the best results in community leadership cannot be expected. A change from amateur to professional teaching in the rural schools would be hastened by giving the teacher a salary that would enable him to provide comfortably for his family, and by compelling the community, through legal enactment to erect a teacher's cottage in close proximity to every school plant."

If anyone was so foolish as to believe Roosevelt was not grooming himself for another presidential race, he had his mind enlightened on that topic if he read the Terrible One's arraignment of President Wilson in yesterday's papers.

THREE MEN IN A CRISIS.

The United States is today facing one of the most momentous crises of the nation's history. The statement of this fact, portentous as it sounds, in but small measure serves to give us an adequate conception of the gravity of the situation, observes the Baltimore Sun. The world, from pole to pole, is vibrant with the tremors of tragedy as Humanity itself faces the greatest crisis in the history of mankind. All of the great nations of the earth, save one, are madly engaged in the slaughter of men and that one fortunate nation today stands in danger of having to take the plunge into the sea of blood. Beset on three sides with possibilities of international strife, burdened with the responsibilities of ultimate service to the warring nations of the earth, our chief magistrate faces a tremendously grave and delicately critical situation. His immediate predecessor, Mr. Taft, with a broad-minded and patriotic grasp of the situation, ranges himself up alongside the president with an utterance worthy of a man who has served as the chosen representative of a hundred million Americans. He says:

"The news of the sinking of the Lusitania as it comes this morning is most distressing. It presents a situation of the most difficult character, properly awakening great national concern. I do not wish to embarrass the president or the administration by a discussion of the subject at this stage of the information, except to express confidence that the president will follow a wise and patriotic course."

For Mr. Taft this was a simple thing to do. He took the attitude of a big, right-minded man; but, while our hearts were still warm with appreciation of his stand, a chilling blast came from another quarter. Another former occupant of the presidential chair bounced into print with a discordant roar that, even though we consider the source, disgusts and shames us as a nation. As printed in the newspapers, it is divided into five short paragraphs. Note the use of the first person singular in the beginning of these paragraphs:

"On the night of the day that the disaster occurred I called the attention of our people to the fact that the sinking of the Lusitania—

"I called attention to the fact that this was merely the application on the high seas and at our expense—

"I said that not only our duty to humanity at large—

"I can do little more than reiterate what I then said," etc.

Now read the last paragraph and consider how much latitude of decision is left to the man to whom we have trusted our destinies in these perilous times:

"The use of this phrase 'strict accountability,' of course, must mean, and can only mean, that action will be taken by us without an hour's unnecessary delay. It was eminently proper to use the exact phrase that was used; and having used it, our self-respect demands that we forthwith abide by it."

And yet, even now, there are men who can look with equanimity on the possibility of placing the delicate task of guiding the course of this nation in the hands of Theodore Roosevelt!

IS CIVILIZATION THE SLAVE OF WAR?

After the war, what? inquires the Portland (Oregon) Evening Telegram. If that question has been asked once by men of some thinking faculty, during the last six months, it has been asked a hundred times. And for the most part, so far as there has been an attempt toward an answer, either the direct conclusion or the strong inference has been that there must be other wars, and then others, ad infinitum and to the world's never-ending damage and distress.

Charles E. Thwing, president of the Western Reserve University, contributes an opinion on the subject wherein he points out that in the history of civilized nations we have had centuries of war, and only decades of peace. He wonders if this is inevitable; if it is a fateful course that cannot be changed; if civilized man is to forget nothing and learn nothing; if all the fine faculty of a mounting intelligence must expend its energy in the treadmill of war.

And Dr. Thwing points out some other things that are interesting, namely that we have trained the ferocity of the wolf out of the dog; and with care and infinite patience we have bred viciousness out of other beasts and domesticated them to friendly and affectionate relations with men, making them useful in the service of peace. The question is not directly propounded, but the suggestion is there: Is human intelligence and the human conscience less amenable to the rational teachings of peace than are the beasts of the field?

For the better part of half a century the greater part of Europe has professedly spent the best of its energies in furthering the progress of civilization through the constructive arts and activities of peace. But suddenly it is disclosed to us that all this was but a mask to an ambition and preparation for war. And now the shock is upon us and war consumes the fruits of this half century's labors in peace.

When peace comes again is history only to repeat itself? Are we to begin again in the same course of self-deception, and devote our best thought and highest endeavor to create, only that we may the more terrifically and the more effectually destroy? Is there no hope of redemption from this treadmill destruction, either in education or in the rational mental poise and the spiritual insight of the race?

We have heard of bottled sunshine, but we hope nobody will bottle any of the present product until the growing crops of this state have gotten their share of it.

And love seemed very tragic when

OPPORTUNE.
The war in Mexico was about to peter out. Everybody was beaten to a standstill and peace ignominiously imposed for lack of an issue which should effect a new cleavage and start things all over.

But suddenly an inspired voice shouted: "Brown bottles are best for

"Viva the light bottle!" cried another, and on the instant the carnage was renewed with an atrocity in all respects worthy of the Latin character.

Former Preacher Is Found Guilty of White Slavery

Milwaukee, May 13.—James Morrison Darnell was this afternoon found guilty by a jury in the federal court of violating the Mann white slave act in that he transported Ruth Soper from Owatonna, Minn., to Chicago and thence to Kenosha.

Counsel for the defendant made a motion for a new trial.

The verdict was received by Darnell without any display of emotion save a slight drooping of his mouth.

Darnell resigned hurriedly from the Simmons Memorial Unitarian church in Kenosha several months ago when Dorris Vaughn Darnell, whom he had met and married in Chicago, became insistent that she be allowed to join him there.

Ruth Soper, the Owatonna girl, who he claimed to have married in 1913, had lived in Kenosha and had been introduced and accepted by the members of Darnell's church as Mrs. Darnell. With her baby she left for Owatonna the day Mrs. Vaughn Darnell arrived.

An investigation which followed revealed still other alleged matrimonial experiences of the pastor and when of admission, contradictions and denials that continued until his arrest by federal authorities in Chicago.

derstand "this unholy war on Texas companies."

He declared that the governor has stated that if these foreign companies came back they would invest $7,000,000 a year in four kinds of securities. "This should be but a drop in the bucket," said Mr. Bryant, "being only about $14,000 a year on farm mortgages if they invested even one-half of this total in farm mortgages."

Representative Wortham was the next speaker who spoke in favor of the bill. He insisted that from its inception the Robertson law had been founded on fallacious principles. His address was an able argument in favor of this measure.

Acting upon the statement attributed to Governor Ferguson that he told the house committee on insurance that if it were not for lobbyists the Gibson bill would pass the legislature in three days, Senator Westbrook today introduced a resolution in the senate, requesting the governor to submit to the present session of the legislature the subject of an amendment to the anti-lobby law so as to more effectively prohibit the evils of lobbying. The resolution also provides that the governor submit to the committee on criminal jurisprudence of the senate such evidence as he may have in his possession, upon which the charge of lobbying is based. The resolution went over until tomorrow as by that time the Gibson bill's fate will have been determined.

A resolution offered by Senator Brelsford, Senator Hall and others, was adopted calling to the attention of the governor the deficit in the penitentiary system and claims now aggregating $800,000 before the senate finance committee and assure the governor of the readiness of the senate to co-operate with him in any plan that will offer a solution of this grave problem.

The senate granted the request of the house for a conference committee on judiciary and eleemosynary sections of the appropriation bill. These were named. On judiciary—Covell, Lattimore, Suiter, Johnson and McGregor. On eleemosynary bill—Covell, Bee, Nugent, Johnson and Brelsford. The senate committee appointed to investigate alleged diversion of or bat-bonic plague appropriation or fund by the health department made its report today to Lieutenant Governor Hobby, finding that the charges are not true. Further, that State Health Officer Collins is completely exonerated. The committee on the other hand, highly commended the economic manner that he has wisely handled the bubonic plague appropriation of $25,000.

Mauretania Sailing Cancelled Account of Little Demand

London, May 12.—The Cunard line announces that the only sailing date they have cancelled is that of the steamer Mauretania. This was cancelled, it is added, because of a meeting that there was not a sufficient demand for passenger accommodations to warrant running her.

English Women Want Country Freed of Menace of Aliens

London, May 12.—While Premier Asquith was telling the house of commons today that the government had decided to intern or segregate subjects of enemy countries at a meeting in the mansion house called to "formulate a protest by the women of Great Britain and Ireland" the women of Great Britain and Ireland demanded that steps be taken to free the country from the menace of the alien enemy in our midst.

Lady Glanville, wife of Baron Glanville, Lord Lieutenant of Brecknock, in moving the resolution, said an astounding state of affairs had been disclosed in a letter which she had received from a survivor of the Lusitania written at Kinsdale.

"You can imagine my feelings on recovering consciousness," the letter ran, "to find that I was in a hotel run by a German."

The lord mayor of London, who presided at the meeting, said the soldiers were right in seeking while the soldiers were fighting that their homes should be protected from the danger involved by the presence of so many German subjects in the country.

FULL TEXT UNITED STATES NOTE TO GERMANY GIVEN OUT

"The government of the United States has been apprised that the imperial German government considered themselves to be obliged by the extraordinary circumstances of the present war and the measures adopted by their adversaries in seeking to cut Germany off from all commerce, to adopt methods of retaliation which go much beyond the ordinary methods of warfare at sea, the proclamation of a war zone from which they have warned neutral ships to keep away."

Cannot Recognize Right. "This government has already taken occasion to inform the imperial German government that it cannot admit the adoption of such measures or such a warning of danger to operate as in any degree an abbreviation of the rights of American shipmasters or of American citizens bound on lawful errand as passengers on merchant ships, of belligerent nationality; and that it must hold the imperial German government to a strict accountability for any infringement of those rights, intentional or incidental. It does not intend to question those rights, but the imperial German government accept, as of course, the rule that the lives of non-combatants, whether they be of neutral citizenship or not, cannot lawfully be taken at sea, nor can they be put in jeopardy by the capture or destruction of an unarmed merchantman, and the obligation to take the usual precaution of visit and search to ascertain whether suspected merchantman is, in fact, of belligerent nationality, or is in fact carrying contraband of war under a neutral flag."

The government of the United States, therefore, desires to call the attention of the imperial German government with the utmost earnestness to the fact that the objection to their present method of attack against the trade of their enemies lies in the practical impossibility of employing submarines in the destruction of commerce without disregarding the rule of fairness, reason, justice and humanity which all modern opinion regards as imperative. It is practically impossible for the officers of a submarine to visit a merchantman at sea and examine his papers and cargo. It is amine her papers and cargo. It is practically impossible for them to take a prize crew on board of her, they cannot sink her without leaving her crew and all on board of her small boats. These facts, it is understood, the imperial German government frankly admit. We are informed that in the time of the cases cited not so much as two of the cases cited. Manifestly, a warning was received. Manifestly, submarines cannot be used against merchantmen, as that an inevitable violation of the most sacred principles of justice and humanity.

America Has Right of Seas. "American citizens act within their indisputable rights in taking their ships and in traveling in their legitimate business calls them upon the high seas and exercise those rights in what should be the well justified confidence that their lives will not be endangered by acts done in violation of universally acknowledged international obligations and certainly in the confidence that their own government will sustain them in the exercise of their rights."

"There was recently published in the newspapers of the imperial German government, a formal warning, purporting to come from the imperial German embassy at Washington, addressed to the people of the United States and stating in effect that States and citizens of the United States who exercised the right of free travel upon the high seas would do so at their peril of their lives and property within the zone of waters within which the imperial German navy was using force against the commerce of Great Britain and France, notwithstanding the respectability of the government of the United States, very earnest note of his government, the government of the United States, do not refer to this for the purpose of calling attention of the imperial German government at this time to the surprising irregularity of a communication from the imperial German embassy at Washington addressed to the people of the United States through the newspapers, but only for the purpose of pointing out that no warning of that act or as an abatement of the responsibility for its commission."

Believe Was Misapprehension. "Long acquainted with this government has been with the character of the imperial German government of equity by which the high seas in the past been accustomed and guided, the government of the United States cannot believe that the commanders of the vessels which committed these acts of lawlessness did so except under a misapprehension of the orders issued by the imperial German naval authorities. It takes for granted, at least within the practical possibilities of every such case, the commanders even of submarines were expected to do nothing that would involve the lives of non-combatants or the safety of neutral ships even at the cost of failing of their object of capture or destruction. It confidently expects, therefore, that the imperial German government will disavow the acts of which the government of the United States complains, that they will make reparation so far as reparation is possible for injuries which are without measure and that they will take immediate steps to prevent the recurrence of anything so obviously subversive of the principles of warfare for which the imperial German government have in the past so wisely and so firmly contended."

"The government and people of the United States look to the imperial German government for just, prompt and enlightened action in this vital matter with the greater confidence because the United States and Germany are bound together not only by special ties of friendship but also by the explicit stipulations of the treaty of 1825 between the United States and the kingdom of Prussia. "Expressions of regret and offers of reparation in case of the destruction of neutral ships sunk by mistake, while they may satisfy international obligations if no loss of life results, cannot justify or excuse a practice, the natural and necessary effect of which is to subject neutral nations and neutral persons to new and immeasurable risks."

"The imperial German government will not expect the government of the United States to omit any word or act necessary to the performance of its sacred duty of maintaining the rights of the United States and its citizens and of safeguarding their free exercise and enjoyment."

"BRYAN."

Paris Papers Comment. Paris, May 12.—The Temps, discussing a cable forecast of the American note to Germany, says that it is firm in tone and leaves no doubt of the attitude of the United States. The president has responded to the appeal of his conscience and the voice of his people," the Temps continues. "The president of the American republic is an eminent jurist with firm views as to justice and humanity. The United States has at heart the justification of its position as a great country and also wishes to count among the great contemporary naval powers. These are sentiments which inspired the president, who at the same time proclaims that the United States should give an example of peace for a sublime influence in the world. Conflicting and explanations have not influenced the president's high idea of justice."

Herrick Wants the American People to Aid in Relief

Colorado Springs, Colo., May 12.—Declaring that Americans should "maintain to the end of the war the world-wide reputation we have gained for American generosity and efficiency," Myron T. Herrick, former United States ambassador to France, in an address before the Wintertime club here tonight, appealed to the nation to continue to support the relief work its representatives have organized and so thoroughly established in France.

Mr. Herrick was in charge of the embassy in Paris when the war started and was active in organizing the American relief. Describing this work, he said: "The American ambulance hospital in France was created in the first days of the war, having for a nucleus the American hospital. The two large hospitals were added. These accommodations about 750 patients and have treated 15,000 wounded."

This organization belongs to America and I direct your attention to the fact that subscriptions for this work are now slowing down.

Reported Mexico City Without a Garrison. Washington, May 12.—Reports from Vera Cruz to the Carranza agency here stating that Zapata's forces were being withdrawn from Mexico City, leaving it virtually without a garrison, caused some anxiety in official and diplomatic circles. Confirmation of the report had not been received at the state department or elsewhere up to a late hour tonight.

Secretary Bryan reiterated today that no change in the American attitude toward Mexico was contemplated after he had conferred again with Duval West, President Wilson's personal representative, who recently returned from a tour of the southern republic.

Another dispatch to the Carranza agency tonight from Vera Cruz declared that since April 15, "when General Obregon defeated all Villa forces, he has not had any real battle with them."

Among Acid Fumes for Three Weeks

A large manufacturer of cotton oil, fertilizer, etc., needed some roofing. Up to that time no roofing had been found which would stand the acid fumes given off in the manufacture. So his chemists thought of the strongest test they could make.

In the laboratory a cabinet was used for all experiments where dangerous acids were required; this cabinet being provided with a flue to carry off the fumes.

Up in the neck of the flue, right where all the acid fumes concentrated, different brands of roofing were placed, Texaco among the number. For three weeks they remained right in the destructive gases.

Texaco Roofing was untouched—as good as before. The rest were eaten away and partially destroyed.

Antediluvians and Young Sprouts Will Celebrate Tonight

As the reward for the victor in the eight weeks' membership and attendance contests that has just closed, the Business Men's class of the Austin Avenue Methodist church will be host to the Baraca class of the same church, at a banquet at 7:45 tonight in the parlors of the church. It is announced that there will be toasts, music, stories of the war and how it happened, and a general good time for everybody.

The Baraca class of the Austin Avenue church challenged the Business Men's class to the contest eight weeks ago. The fight was furious and close, but the younger men edged the older ones out in the race, reporting a total of 125 new members to the Business Men's 100. Average attendance of the two classes during the contest was more than 140 for each of the eight Sundays.

During the heat of the fight the older members of the younger ones "Young Sprouts." The young men instantly came back with the appellation, "Antediluvians." Both of the names have stuck and will be heard about the banquet board tonight.

WILLIAM BARNES ON THE WITNESS STAND

FORMER CHAIRMAN OF THE REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE TESTIFIES.

DIDN'T TALK ABOUT TAX BILL

Had No Conversation Concerning the Measure with Roosevelt—Considers Colonel Leader.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 13.—William Barnes, former chairman of the republican state committee, spent two hours on the witness stand today in his libel suit against Theodore Roosevelt. He contradicted wholly or in part various portions of the testimony of Colonel Roosevelt and gave his own version of several incidents described by Mr. Roosevelt.

Mr. Barnes swore that he did not talk to Colonel Roosevelt about the tax bill prior to its passage. He denied emphatically that he had asked the then governor of New York not to sign the bill. With equal emphasis he denied that he had ever told Colonel Roosevelt that men identified with big business interests contributed to both parties in order to gain protection and that if it was not given them they would cease to contribute. He had urged the reappointment of Lou Payn as state superintendent of insurance and that he had discussed executive and legislative matters with Colonel Roosevelt "on many occasions." He said he had done none of these or a half dozen other things the colonel described him as having done.

He did, however, declare by direct inference that he considered Colonel Roosevelt the leader of the republican party in this state from 1906 to 1910. And he said he visited the white house in 1908 at the request of the president and was urged to see August Belmont about the race track bill. He quoted Colonel Roosevelt as saying that the bill must be defeated. That was the which failed of passage because of the vote of State Senator Grattan, who, according to previous testimony, changed his mind about voting for it after an alleged talk with Mr. Barnes the night before it came up for consideration.

As for the statement accredited to him by Colonel Roosevelt that the people "were not fit to govern themselves," Mr. Barnes declared he never said it.

ASHVILLE GETS 1916 BAPTIST CONVENTION; DANIELS TO PREACH

ing done by the Methodist Episcopal church South, and by other denominations in this direction.

"While I have no patience with the Prussian military spirit," he said, "I want to urge Southern Baptists to go forward with the spirit which animates Germany."

Except for today's resolution endorsing President Wilson and the frequent statement that American Baptists and other Protestants, must be prepared to take up foreign mission work which war has cramped, little churches in Europe lay aside, little has been said thus far about the European war, except during devotional exercises prayers usually are offered for a speedy peace.

Morning Session to Consolidation.

With the question of the proposed consolidation of the home mission board, the foreign mission board and Sunday school board, and discussion of whether the aggregate salaries of these three boards' officers are excessive, as one delegate claimed, took up the greater part of the morning session of the convention here today.

The discussion came when the report of the commission on efficiency was taken up. This report, which proved the suggested consolidation of the boards.

J. F. Brownlow, a lay delegate from Columbia, Tenn., opposed the commission's recommendations and moved that a special committee be appointed to investigate the question of consolidation and report next year to the convention. Objecting to the expense of these boards, he said the three boards could be consolidated.

Mr. Brownlow also declared that the $4,000 paid the corresponding secretary of the home mission board "ought to get a man who could do all the boards' work."

$27,200 in Salaries.

"Instead of this," he said, "the salaries of secretaries of the home mission board aggregate $27,200."

The Rev. Dr. M. Ashby Jones of Augusta, Ga., urging the adoption of the commission's report, said the "only trouble with our home and foreign mission boards is friction they have with state mission boards when they enter the constituencies of the state boards to collect funds."

A special board, he said, should collect funds both for the home mission board and the foreign mission board.

"Let these boards devote all their time to administering their work," he said, "and relieve them from the useless work of collecting money."

He added that later he would move that the convention take steps to appoint such a board.

Dr. J. B. Gambrell of Dallas was declared there was no friction of any kind in the work of the boards and urged their present status be maintained.

No action had been taken by noon on the Brownlow substitute.

The convention also adopted and ordered sent to President Wilson resolutions approving his stand in regard to the European situation.

George W. Norton of Louisville, treasurer of the convention, and W. P. Harvey of Harrodsburg, Ky., auditor, were re-elected.

Approve Wilson's Stand.

After the opening exercises, the convention unanimously adopted resolutions approving the stand taken by President Wilson in the international relations of the United States since the European war.

Prayer then was offered for divine guidance for the president.

The resolutions, which were ordered telegraphed to President Wilson, read as follows:

COCOANUT OIL MAKES A SPLENDID SHAMPOO

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mullet coconut oil (which is pure and entirely creaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly and is left soft, shiny and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mullet coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last every one in the family for months.

relations of the United States since the European war.

Prayer then was offered for divine guidance for the president.

The resolutions, which were ordered telegraphed to President Wilson, read as follows:

"The Southern Baptist convention, representing 2,500,000 Baptists, desires to place on record its high appreciation of the great service to the nation and the world now being rendered by the president of the United States, Woodrow Wilson, in the firm stand he has taken for the ideals of peace and at the same time his vigorous assertion of the principles of justice and the requirements of international law."

"We rejoice in the restraint, the discrimination, the judicial fairness and the courage with which he is steering the ship of state in a time of extraordinary difficulty and danger."

"We desire to express our unwavering confidence in him, as the exponent of our national ideals and of the ideals of higher civilization to the world, and also to assure him of our profound sympathy and prayers in the solution of the delicate problems and the performance of the arduous tasks in which he now is engaged."

The treasurer's report then was read and the treasurer and auditor were re-elected. The other officers were elected last yesterday.

The Rev. T. J. Searcy of Memphis, Tenn., a fraternal delegate to the National Baptist convention (negro) then addressed the convention, thanking the white Baptists for their aid to his race. He also paid a tribute to President Wilson for keeping America at peace.

Shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon the convention voted to adopt the report of the efficiency commission, which recommended no consolidation of the home mission board, the foreign mission board and the Sunday school board of the convention.

Dr. E. C. Dargan of Macon, Ga., chairman of the efficiency commission, then announced that the commission had a supplementary report to make and this was set as a special order for Friday afternoon.

At an alumni banquet of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Ky., Dr. E. Y. Mullins, president of the seminary, announced tonight that he expected soon to issue a call to raise $1,000,000 for additional buildings for the institution. He did not say when the call would be made.

It was announced that the institution during the past year had 409 students—305 men and 104 women. Its endowment fund now is $1,000,000. Several changes were announced in the faculty.

At the night meeting of the convention, which was devoted chiefly to inspirational work the report of Dr. Lansing Burrows, statistical secretary, giving figures on the growth of Southern Baptist churches, was distributed in booklet form. It will be discussed later in the week.

Lansing's Report.

Figures indicating the growth of the Southern Baptist church in the last year and the extent of its membership are contained in the annual report of Dr. Lansing Burrows, statistical secretary, submitted to the report here today. According to the report the Southern Baptists have 24,338 churches, with a membership of 2,588,633. Since the last convention 151,441 converts have been added to the fellowship of these churches and 11,686 members who had been excluded were reinstated. During the year 28,279 members were expelled and 20,297 died.

Connected with these churches there are 17,233 Sunday schools in which 1,705,871 pupils are enrolled.

Dr. Burrows reports that the property of the Southern Baptists is valued at $56,861,492. The church's gifts for missions last year totaled $1,759,821 and the amount contributed by the church and its members for all purposes aggregated $13,073,939.

The negro Baptists in the South, according to the report, number 2,083,246. In the United States, outside of the south there are 1,341,933 Baptists, making the total number of the Baptist denomination in this country 6,013,812. The report states that Texas, with 336,679 members, has the largest number of Baptists of any state in the union and that Georgia is second with 232,244 members.

Dr. Burrows' report gives the number of Baptists in countries other than the United States, as follows: Canada, 133,516; Mexico, 2,917; West Indies and Central America, 55,525; South America, 12,562; Europe, 621,765; Asia, 207,195; Africa, 17,991; Australia, 30,188, a total for the world of 7,096,471.

Will Elect Miss Heck.

Miss Fannie E. S. Heck of Raleigh, N. C., president of the Woman's Missionary union, auxiliary to the Southern Baptist convention, again will be made president, it was indicated today. Miss Heck is critically ill in Richmond, Va., and it had been indicated she felt she no longer could serve. From her hospital she sent the union a message saying, "I bid you farewell. Following the reading of this Mrs. F. S. Davis, head of the union in Texas, had carried a motion that the nominating committee of the union return Miss Heck's name as the nominee for president. The election will be held Saturday."

The union voted to organize its work by states, adopted a plan of Bible study and voted to appoint a permanent publicity committee and to have the union represented at all Baptist meetings.

Miss Asbury and J. K. Chandler of Travis Are Married

Travis, Tex., May 13.—The country home of J. C. Asbury was beautifully arranged last night for the marriage of Miss Bernice Asbury and John K. Chandler of this city. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by the Rev. P. A. Goddard of Waco, being followed by a large reception.

The bride was given in marriage by her sister, Miss Annie Lee, while Eugene K. Davidson served as best man. Immediately after the reception the couple left for a honeymoon tour before going to their home here.

The out-of-town guests were the Misses Stone Hamlin, McGaha Lott, Irwin and Weiss Rosebud, Mrs. Emmitt Gassaway, Waco, and Messrs. Chandler, Cahill, West and Bell Burlington.

For Acid Stomachs Use Magnesia

The almost universal use of magnesia by physicians and specialists in the treatment of stomach troubles, is due to the fact that it stops food fermentation and neutralizes the acid—the direct cause of nearly all stomach troubles. Of the many forms of magnesia such as oxides, citrates, carbonates, sulphates, etc., the most suitable and efficient, and the one most easily absorbed, is the form of magnesia known as "magnesia alba," or "magnesia alba," which in a little warm water immediately after eating will instantly neutralize the acid, stop fermentation, and thus insure painless and efficient digestion. Care should be taken to get bisulphated magnesia, as its action is infinitely more effective. It is also, by the way, usually stocked by druggists in convenient compressed tablets as well as in the ordinary powder form. Stomach sufferers and dyspeptics who follow this plan and avoid the use of pepsin, charcoal, soda, salts, drugs and medicines are invariably astonished to find that the stomach is relieved of its irritating acid and gas, soon regains its normal tone, and can do its work alone without the doubtful aid of artificial digestants.

ONLY $3,000 NEEDED MANY WILL GO TO FOR GUARANTEE FUND FT. WORTH MONDAY

WORK OF CENTRAL COMMITTEE Y. M. B. L. SPECIAL WILL CARRY AND TEAMS YESTERDAY NETS $11,575.

COTTON PALACE IS UNIQUE INTEREST IS STRONG HERE

Financial History Without a Parallel in First Years of Exposition. Teams Will Work Today.

When the teams quit work yesterday afternoon it was estimated that something over $12,000 of the $15,000 guarantee fund for the operating expenses of the 1915 Cotton Palace had been obtained. At the luncheon yesterday noon, which started the day's work of the teams, the central committee reported that it had obtained from all sources since the campaign began $13,125. Bob Frazier's team led all others with $335 in guarantees, and C. B. Link's team was second with $705, making a total obtained up to noon yesterday of $11,575. The teams will meet again at noon today and after a luncheon in the Y. M. B. L. rooms, will go out for the remaining $3,000.

Teams at work are pointing out that this is the first time that assistance has been sought for the Cotton Palace, while every other fair in the state, during the first years of its existence, has had to cast upon the people of its home city for donations every year. The guarantee is conditional, and will not have to be paid unless there is some great loss in the receipts of the show, which could only occur in case of continued bad weather or some other calamity. The Cotton Palace directors would not have asked for the guarantee if it had not been contemplated to spend a large sum of money before the show opens to enlarge the agricultural features of the exposition, to build and equip a race track, grandstand and athletic field. These features are expected to return in increased gate receipts than they will cost.

Mary Pickford, the idol of the movies, who appears in "Fanchon the Cricket" at the Queen today and tomorrow.

SCENE FROM "STRATHMORE" FOUR-PART SERIAL MASTERPIECE PRODUCED BY RELIANCE Hippodrome today and tomorrow.

THEATRES

QUEEN.

Mary Pickford in "Fanchon the Cricket" today and tomorrow. In one of the simplest, sweetest and oldest plays on the stage, Mary Pickford, probably the most popular movie actress in America, will be seen at the Queen today. The play is Geo. Sands' "Fanchon the Cricket," which has been a favorite on the legitimate stage for several generations.

Famous Players have produced the play in moving pictures, with Mary Pickford in the title role. Wonderfully beautiful are the scenic effects made possible in the old French play, and the thing is the highest order throughout. Fanchon is a mischievous imp of a girl, who is cordially disliked in the rural community where she lives. But she has a real heart and is a very real girl. In the end she wins the man with whom she is in love, in spite of the sneers of her acquaintances.

Mary Pickford has scored triumphs in every production in which she has appeared and dramatic critics claim that she is at her very best in the lovable little character of Fanchon. She is surrounded by the following cast of Famous Players, all of whom are stars themselves:

Jack Standing
Madelon
Lottie Pickford
Old Fader (Fanchon's grandmother)
Gertrude Norman
Landry's Father
Russell Bassett
Didier (Landry's brother)
Richard Lee

HIPPODROME.

"Strathmore," or "Wrought by His Own Hand."

A woman's descent of the crimson path is feelingly pictured in "Strathmore," the four-part Mutual master picture, showing at the Hippodrome today and tomorrow, which is founded on the famous novel of that name by Ouida.

Francella Billington, the pretty, golden-haired actress, who complained recently that she was too pretty, has had her wish. Her wish was that she was given a chance to prove that she was a capable actress as well as a pretty one. In "Strathmore" she realizes this desire, when she is called upon to play the wife and later on an orphan daughter. The way she differentiates between mother and daughter while she still suggests forcibly to those who are watching the picture the points of resemblance between the two, is a feat of acting upon which she may justly congratulate herself.

"Strathmore" is a feature attraction of the present out of the many memorized past. This splendidly executed picture, so reminiscent of the great days now done, was produced by Reliance at the Hollywood studios, under the direction of Francis Grandon. An adequate cast includes the name of the celebrated romantic actor, Charles Clary, a newcomer to the Mutual ranks, and among other by no means unimportant players featured in the cast are Francella Billington, Irene Hunt, Howard Gaye, Alfred Paget, Wilbur Higby and Elmer Clifton.

The story is old fashioned, but it was always considered one of the best of the present day. Ouida's gifted pen, and still retains all its appealing romantic interest and dramatic force.

Various ways of making love are amply illustrated in "Strathmore." In this picture man after man falls in love with and presses his suit upon the fascinating but dissolute Lady Va-vasour. The result of all this, the disaster that follows in the wake of faith wrongly placed, as shown in this drama, provide a moral lesson of no mean kind. Charles Clary, Howard Gaye, Wilbur Higby, Elmer Clifton and Alfred Paget are among the actors who illustrate the manners of the amorously inclined.

Hippodrome Gets Lusitania Pictures. The management of the Hippodrome announced that motion pictures of the ill-fated Lusitania have been booked. The film now en route by fast express from New York, which is to be shown Saturday and Sunday, gives in detail the last scenes taken as the boat left New York harbor with its precious load of human freight. Close-up scenes of the passengers, waving farewell to their friends on the dock, show intimate views of Elbert Hubbard, Charles Frohman, Charles Klein, Rita Jolivet, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt and others.

Interior views of the cabins, also of the crew and the warbled which appeared in the New York papers advising Americans not to take the ship, are shown in the picture.
